Award winning children's book authors David and Mutiya Vision are a husband and wife team who've navigated the goliath responsibility of raising seven children! And yet, this task isn't nearly as challenging and unpredictable as the world they saw their children entering into. As a result of overcoming adversity in their own childhood experiences, the Visions wished to give children the benefit of information they didn't have access to while growing up. They recognized that a great deal of images and messages children are exposed to, were not in their best interest. They felt that children needed an edge to prepare for challenges, and/or leadership roles in a world they will one day inherit. This reality compelled them to provide a solution. Mutiya Vision seized the opportunity to fill a void, and make a substantial contribution by teaching life lessons through literacy. It soon became obvious that this service fulfilled their life purpose, and Vision Works Publishing was born.

The Visions' collaborated to produce a number of character building children's books. From literary works their creativity blossomed into various workshops, family oriented programs, videos, and music designed to entertain, raise the human spirit and strengthen mental development in children of all ages. Their materials assist children in confronting life issues, understanding emotions, exploring options, discovering their purpose and making wise choices in any given situation. Their commitment and vision inspires children, parents, communities, and educators everywhere to utilize their own talents in making the world a better place for all. David and Mutiya Vision are currently the authors of 10 published children's books.
